New Hampshire Health Care Association Endorses APPI Energy

Largest association of long-term care providers in New Hampshire endorses energy procurement consulting firm

Salisbury, MD, September 12, 2016—The New Hampshire Health Care Association (NHHCA) announced its endorsement of consulting firm APPI Energy to reduce and manage electricity and natural gas costs on an ongoing basis for members. Dedicated to furthering the quality of care for long-term residents, NHHCA is following the lead of the American Health Care Association and nine state-based health care and long-term care associations that endorse APPI Energy to provide data-driven procurement solutions. The program offers a unique opportunity to the NHHCA membership to better meet the needs of the residents they serve.

“Every day, APPI Energy reviews the wide range of energy supplier prices across New Hampshire, and identifies the lowest prices available among many reliable, competing suppliers,” said Walter Moore, President and CEO of APPI Energy. APPI Energy reviews thousands of electricity and natural gas prices every day to deliver data-driven solutions, and true apples-to-apples comparisons. “Recommendations to NHHCA members regarding when to buy energy, and which contract length is best, are based on extensive data analytics and 20 years of transaction experience,” said Moore. This includes evaluation of current supply contracts, proprietary price analytics, energy tariff analysis, regulatory tracking, and complete customer service.

“APPI Energy evaluates energy bills and usage, and makes unbiased recommendations that provide cost savings, and can benefit each member’s bottom line,” said Brendan Williams, President & CEO of NHHCA. “Especially with so many costs presently unmet by Medicaid, the program fits well with our vision to support our members so they can focus on providing quality care.”
